

HMW engage with users so that they feel connected and interacted?	HMW personalized the app so that users can have more control of what they experience?	HMW redesign the search engine so users can have a better searching experience?
Be able to share, with someone else - with yourself(e.g., email yourself)	Time stamps(users are able to virtually bookmark certain time stamps)	Clean and clear navigation
Could match your tastes against the famous people(e.g., you have similar listening habits to Ariana Grande)	Include personal stats, such as "Congratulation, you've finished listening this book"	I hope it can show my searching history so I don't need to type in the same thing again
The ability to listen to it at the same time as friends	Personalised feed of recommendations	Show similar results to my search
Able to comment on certain part and allow others to see or, other ppl can react to my comment - e.g., reply me, like my comment, save my comment to favourite	Be able to switch between audio and e-book and highlight certain parts.	A filter system that can help me to narrow down the books I want
Borrowing and lending books from other users	Changing speed of listening, fast forward and rewind	Show top searches so I know what is trending at the moment
Having a family account	Maybe use the vibrations and more sound effects to create the atmosphere of the story	Search certain content in books
Having a book listeners' community on the app	Search in the book content	Able to search in my own library
Special audience inclusions	Personal library that includes wishlist, bookmarks etc.
Social link to user profile	Live chat with others, especially while listening.
